

About the Trabectome (surgical procedure for glaucoma)

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 09 October 2013 00:00 - Last Updated Wednesday, 09 October 2013 14:03

Trabectome is a minimally invasive glaucoma operation: a small section of Schlemm's canal is removed under local anaesthetic. It is regarded as a safer procedure than trabeculectomy, with less risk of very low IOP drops.

The eye pressure drop is also more modest than trabeculectomy, however with a safer post-operative course, this procedure has gained more widespread acceptance in the last few years.

Trabectome